

Children's Ancestor Candle

Samhain is a time of honoring and remembering those that have passed before us.

We do this in a variety of ways, but an ancestor candle is a common activity. Get your kiddos involved with their own flameless candle to partake in the celebrations, too!

Instructions

1. Color the candle. Use any color correspondences you have for Samhain or ancestors in general. As your child colors the candle, spend some time talking about the Ancestors. Who are they? Why do we honor them? Why do we remember them?

2. Cut the candle out and place it on your ancestor altar, in a window, or walk around the house with it.

(C) RoundtheCauldron.com