Instructions

Create Your Sacred Space

You can cast a circle if that's part of your practice. Otherwise, follow your normal sacred space creation.

I meditate on my intention, focus my breath, and create sacred space by saying the following while envisioning a bright white light all around me.

"This is a sacred space. Only those that are invited are welcome. I call on the spirits and energies of the five elements -Earth, Air, Fire, and Water. I ask you to be here today and aid me in my work."

Bless the Jewelry with the Elements

Place your jewelry within the salt and say the following...

"By the power of Earth, this jewelry is cleansed. Spirit of Earth, I call to you. Imbue this necklace with your stability and your rock foundation so that I may have stability and a solid foundation in my life."

Pass your jewelry safely through the incense smoke and say the following...

"Spirit of Air, I call to you. Imbue this necklace with the wisdom of the winds so that I may travel and know where I'm supposed to go."

Pass your jewelry safely through – or around – the candle flame and say the following...

"Spirit of Fire, I call to you. Imbue this necklace with your passion and your energy and your heat so that I may retain my passion for what I do and those I love."

Place your jewelry into the moon water and say the following...

"Spirit of Water enchanted by the Moon, I call to you. Imbue this necklace with your flowing energy so that I may learn to love myself, those around me, and go with the flow of my emotions and the day and where they carry me."

Place your jewelry on the pentacle and say the following...

"Spirit, I call to you. Imbue this necklace with your protective energies as it has been blessed by the powers of Earth, Air, Fire, and Water. I call to you, Spirit, so that when I wear this necklace I may be protected, and I may carry with me the energy of the elements."

Close your circle or sacred space in the way you normally do. Thank the elements for joining you and giving you their blessing. Wear your jewelry regularly and repeat this enchantment every Full Moon for a lasting effect.
